

This is to oppose the CBA's attempt to weaken the Indiana Privacy Act. Please consider that most American's work full time jobs, go to school, and/or raise families. Making it possible for these companies to continually call consumers only makes less time for other things that should be more important, such as helping children with homework, spending quality time with your family, and having uninterrupted meals. I am the parent of 4 children, work a full time job out of the home, and attend college. The time that I have at home with my family is very important to me. When I have to stop helping them, or playing with them, every 10 minutes for an unwanted phone call, that is telling them that they are not as important as whom ever is calling. I do not have the luxury of voice mail, therefore, I must answer, or listen to the phone ring continually. Please take into consideration all of the families that you are affecting by letting others intrude into our homes and take away from our children.
